

Dairy at Guelph Virtual Showcase 2020

- ◆ November 16: Pre-recorded presentations will be posted.
- ◆ November 25: Online live panel discussion, broadcast at 10:00 AM.
- ◆ November 26: Online live panel discussion, broadcast at 10:00 AM.

Dairy at Guelph Virtual Showcase 2020

Live panel discussions broadcast at 10:00 AM on November 25th and 26th.

November 16th Pre-recorded presentations will be made available online

November 25th Audience should have viewed the pre-recorded presentations

Keynote Presentation

Global perspective on dairy production

Caroline Émond, Director General of the International Dairy Federation. The IDF is an international organization with 43 member countries that represents the entire dairy value chain at the global level.

Dairy at Guelph presentation

What have we learned about consumer trends from the challenges and changes in the pandemic?

Michael Von Massow – Professor, Food, Agriculture and Resource Economics, University of Guelph.

Live online panel discussion at 10:00 AM

Future trends and research needs for the Canadian dairy industry

Caroline Émond and Michael von Massow.

November 26th Audience should have viewed the pre-recorded presentations from the following five Dairy at Guelph researchers:

Christine Baes – Genomic selection for health and efficiency

Stephen LeBlanc – Prudent use of antimicrobials

Trevor DeVries – Precision feeding and management

Michael Steele – New concepts in calf nutrition

Gisèle LaPointe – Adding value to dairy products

Live online panel discussion at 10:00 AM

Moderator: David Kelton, Professor, Population Medicine, University of Guelph.

How to access streaming videos:

The program with video titles will be posted on the Dairy at Guelph website (www.dairyatguelph.ca). Links to the streaming videos will be created in the titles of each presentation listed in the program.

How to view the live online panel discussions:

Links that will allow viewers to login and view each live panel discussion will be provided at a future date. They will be added in the program that will be posted on our Dairy at Guelph website. More details will follow.